The nature of some jobs may require certain staff members to perform essential tasks during College holidays. Supervisors, in consultation with Division Heads, will determine which employees will need to report for work during these times, and will also determine the schedule for employees who must report for work. Employees who work on the additional winter recess days will be able to take off other days during the academic year, subject to the approval of their supervisor. The decision regarding additional winter recess days between Christmas and New Year will be revisited annually.
